

Alike and Different, One and Many

He waka eke noa – We're all in this together

Recent events demand empathy, respect and deep reflection on the meaning of these experiences to minimise harm and build children's resilience and optimism.

Join our facilitators to help address two interconnected topics that affect your work as educators: Helping children to make meaning of tragic events; and addressing diversity and difference in ways that go beyond the superficial and stereotypical.

When: Saturday 25 May, 9.00am - 3.00pm

Where: Ministry of Education, Ground Floor, Cnr Hereford & Cambridge St, Christchurch

Price: $35 Members, $50 Non-members

The forum facilitators are:

Anne Stonehouse AM - Anne is an internationally acclaimed ECE consultant and writer. She was part of the writing team for Australia's Early Years Learning Framework and original Code of Ethics and co-authored the book, What Happened to the World.

Michelle Gujer - Michelle is the Manager of the Children's Programme at Gowrie Victoria-Broadmeadows Valley, Australia. She has experience in supporting vulnerable communities and is committed to building community partnerships and engaging families as children's first educators.
